RECEPTION AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Thursday evening a reception was given at the Presbyterian church to the new members that was largely attended and was a very enjoyable affair for all participating. The reception committee was composed of the members whose family initials ran from R to Z. Mr. S. F. Stahl spoke the opening words on the program and acted as leader of the evening exercises. Mrs. H. C. Tupper was chairman of the program committee and Miss Ruth Byram of the committee on decorations. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the main auditorium aglow with beautiful autumn flowers and greenery, while the Sunday school room, where refreshments were served, was a typical "harvest home" scheme where red pumpkins and yellow corn played a conspicuous part. The brief program consisted of an address of welcome to the new members by Mr. J. C. Sherer, selections by the Baraca quartette, a violin solo by Cecil Crandall and recitations by Miss Butterfield.

Refreshments consisting of a liberal supply of pumpkin pie, coffee and apples were served in the Sunday school room. Members of the church who had been with it since its formation thirty years ago mingled with the new members of a few days and the informal social nature of the affair was the great feature of its success.

FIREMEN WIN PIANO

GLENDALE PUBLIC SHOWS APPRECIATION OF SERVICES BY OVERWHELMING VOTE

There was quite a little excitement at the Southern California Music company's store, Brand boulevard, Friday night, when the rival contestants by the medium of their representatives, assembled to count the votes in the competition for the piano presented by the music firm. Up to the last hour of voting the voters came in to give their support to one or the other side.

It has been a hard contest and for a time it was a neck to neck race. The ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon club did their best to win and with their large circle of acquaintances it looked as though they would have an easy task, but as the days of the competition passed by it became manifest that the constant hard work of the fire boys was telling and during the last few days that work resulted in piling up a substantial majority. The figures stood: For the firemen, 1935; for the Tuesday Afternoon club, 1225.

Much credit is due the enterprising representatives of the Southern California Music company for their enterprise in getting up this competition. It is a form of edvertising that should prove advantageous to their further pursuit of business in this center. Messrs. E. R. Potter, Joseph Hughes and E. C. Trimmer, the representatives of the music firm in Glendale, were present Friday night and superintended the labors of the enumerating committees.

When the ballot box was opened Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, was present. She was assisted by Mrs. E. H. Willisford, second vice president, and Mrs. W. Hunt. The firemen were represented by Chief Lankford, Patrolman Hollenbeck and Emil Kiefer. The votes were soon counted and when the majority of 710 appeared for the fireboys none were more sincere or cordial in their congratulations than the ladies present.

All the competitors thanked the representatives of the Southern California Music company for the courtesy and kindness shown them throughout the contest and wished them success in their business in Glendale. The firemen are delighted with their victory and the fruits thereof. The new piano is a handsome article. It is a Fairbanks instrument and is valued at $350. It will form a very presentable addition to the large hall in the firehouse and will serve to pass away many a long hour when the fireboys are waiting in the winter nights for a possible summons to duty.

ATTEND THE CONGRESS OF MOTHERS

Glendale was very well represented yesterday at the Reciprocity day of the First district, California Congress of Mothers, held in Santa Monica.

The day was one of pleasure from the time of arrival to departure. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the beautiful new high school. The guests were formally welcomed by Supt. Rebok of the city school and Prof. Wood of the high school both spoke in very high terms of the value of the P. T. A. to the work of the educator.

Luncheon was served in the cafeteria. A capable corps of students served.

After luncheon the guests were invited to the gallery of the auditorium, the student body being seated in the body of the house. It was a most inspiring sight to look upon that fine assembly of our young manhood and womanhood fitting themselves for some useful service to humanity. The large majority of students were boys and it was commented frequently that during the long program of musical and literary numbers given not one student was seen to whisper.

In the afternoon Prof. J. O. Cross of the Pasadena Polytechnic High School gave a fine address and if doubt ever existed in the minds of any present as to the value of the organization it was surely dispelled in his remarks. Prof. Cross is an earnest and sincere man and he made the parents feel their share of the great responsibility in co-operation between home and school and great benefits both derived from such.

He was followed by Dr. E. H. Willisford, who told of the work of our High School P. T. A. and its accomplishments.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford, Mrs. H. W. Yarick, Mrs. R. I. Kurtz, Mrs. F. E. Hagin, Mrs. R. I. Kurtz, Mrs. F. attended the meeting.

DeBerry ascended the scaffold with a great affectation of bravado. He smoked a cigar and threw glances of contempt on the crowd and altogether exhibited an unusually defiant spirit. After the drop fell DeBerry remained suspended for 28 minutes when he was pronounced dead.

PACIFIC AVENUE P. T. A. WELL ATTENDED

The parliamentary practice class was intensely interesting. The motion to the effect That no trains run on Pacific avenue as a drill brought many women to their feet in earnest discussion of the motion. This class work was enjoyed and adjournment for the regular meeting came only too soon and they decided to have the drill a half hour before each regular meeting, as much for good fellowship and getting acquainted as practice.

The most of Mrs. Stone's students were at sloyd. The sixth grade filled the court with music, singing "America." It was a pleasure for the mothers to see the children form in lines and mark time marching out. The meeting was conducted strictly by Roberts' rules of order revised. The fourteen committees had interesting work to report. Emergency chairmen had arranged for a sewing bee Friday, Oct. 22, at 2 p. m. It will be a shower for the emergency box. Buttons, thread, clean, outgrown garments, shoes or pennies will be appropriate gifts. Mrs. C. will be appropriate gifts.

The committee on beautifying the grounds are delaying their work till the rains. Mrs. G. D. Roach, ways and means committee, spoke of the entertainment to be given in front of the grandstand by Mrs. Wayland Brown's students, the party in some ball and night meeting so fathers could enjoy our good things. The visiting committee chairman is Miss Eva Daniels, 1424 W. Colorado Blvd., and her committee is ready to assist any mother in every way. The picture which is hung in the room receiving the most standing votes of the members was given by the principal, Mrs. Fannie Stone. It was an interesting study in color and Mrs. Stone's room having the most votes has it till next meeting. The picture, A Little Child Shall Lead Them, given by Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, will be hung in the lower grade.

Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman, chairman of program, surely gave food for thought. Piano solo, Mrs. Bryant. Books for the Young, Mrs. Ayres. Address, Prof. White. President's address.

Mrs. S. C. Packer, the hospitality chairman, made every one feel they were one of the happy P. T. A. of Pacific avenue.

PASSING OF LANDMARK

H. C. GOODELL PACKING HOUSE, LOMITA AND GLENDALE, TO BE PULLED DOWN

One of the old landmarks of Glendale is about to disappear. The H. C. Goodell packing house, which has stood so long on Lomita and Glendale avenues, is about to pass away. The building is old, weatherworn and useless. The city will take it down and sell the lumber, returning the price to its owner, Miss F. Cora Goodell. When the old packing house disappears Glendale will part with what is a link with the past.

"At one time the land on which the old house stands was part of the H. C. Goodell ranch," said Miss Goodell to a representative of the Glendale Evening News. "It was once known as the "Old Crow" ranch. A Mr. Oliver of Toledo, O., purchased it from Mr. Crow. At that time the ranch stretched along from Ninth street to Broadway. Mr. Oliver had in addition to the ranch a one-third interest in the Glendale sanitarium. He was a man of much enterprise. Some people thought he had too much enterprise.

He was concerned in bringing the Salt Lake railroad into Glendale and had many irons in the fire. The packing house was one of them. It was used as a fruit packing house. The fruit was sent to Sacramento and thence to Chicago. This would have been a good business had not Mr. Oliver got into difficulties. He had to borrow money to invest in the railway. Time came when his creditors pressed him hard and he was compelled to sell the ranch.

"My father, Mr. H. C. Goodell, bought the ranch from Mr. Oliver and entered on its possession. About ten years ago I remember Mr. Oliver came to visit us in Glendale. He had a strong desire to see the old ranch and the packing house and the old trees which he said had been planted 24 years previous to his visit. It must have been some kind of intuition that led him here for his last look at what had been a pet scheme of his life, for the very day after he had wandered over the old place he died. He was an old man—94 years of age.

"My father was a transportation man. He had many experiences that he loved to narrate. At one time he was engaged to transport troops at the time of the Civil war. Among other troops he transported was a regiment which was commanded by General (then major) Grant. My father conveyed the troops from Springfield, Ill., to Quincy, Ill. He used to love to tell of the urbanity and general kindliness of the man who afterward became president. Grant, according to my father, with all his real kindness of heart, never relaxed his discipline and his men loved him and respected him.

"I remember myself meeting General Grant in Philadelphia. I remember how he noticed me and how he showed a remembrance of the time when he met my father in Illinois. I am sorry to see the old packinghouse go. It always brings up memories of those old days, but I suppose the old order must change, giving place to the new. The world must progress and even old landmarks must give place to improvement.

"Out of my father's land holding on Lomita and Glendale avenues I got six lots. I sold two of them to the school and retain four. This is a valuable piece of property and continues to increase in value. Some day I suppose it will all be built on and the very memory of the "Goodell ranch" will pass away."

RETURNS FROM SAN DIEGO

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Preston of 725 South Adams street, Glendale, accompanied by W. S. Carmichael, have just returned from a four days' visit to the San Diego exposition. When not in attendance at the exposition Mr. and Mrs. Preston spent their time at Lemon Grove, a small village near San Diego. Mr. Preston says the irrigating facilities are much better in the Glendale community than in the vicinity of Lemon Grove.

WEALTH IN NATIONAL FORESTS

While some of the departments run by the United States show deficits the department of agriculture in its handling of the national forests shows a surplus. During the fiscal year ended June 30 that department turned into the United States treasury a sum of $2,500,000 from the forests. This was an increase of $40,000 over the receipts of the previous year. The Forest Service as the section of the department of agriculture which handles this business is called, obtained $1,164,000 from its timber sales. That was about $79,000 less than the sum obtained during the previous year. This decrease was on account of the serious depression all over the country which resulted in a decrease in building and a decrease in lumber prices.

The larger revenue obtained by the service came in part from grazing receipts, which showed an increase of $127,000. The sheep and cattle farmers are alive to the advantages offered them in the privilege of taking their stock to those national forests and are willing to pay the reasonable sum asked for the privilege. The water power receipts showed an increase of nearly $42,000. The total receipts from cattle grazing were $1,125,000; the total receipts from water power amounted to nearly $90,000, of which $64,000 was developed in California.

It is curious to notice how far reaching are the effects of the war in Europe. The war has seriously affected the turpentine trade. The naval stores market has been practically shut down and the sale of turpentine has been nearly cut in two. Last year the receipts from turpentine amounted to $14,000; this year the receipts have been only $9000.

Among the curious privileges granted by the forest service are such as permits for apiaries. The raisers of bees and sellers of honey appreciate the privilege of having large stretches of country over which their winged flocks may roam amid sweet honey-producing herbs and flowers. The service also lets ground for whaling stations. These varied industries yielded last year $78,000, an increase of $9000.

It is really interesting to note how rapidly the government has obtained an income out of this source which for so many years has been exploited by private corporations. What is revealed in this report is a faint intimation of how many millions and thousands of millions of dollars have been taken from the land all over the United States by corporations which had really no right to enjoy such profits. The argument for the conservationist is irresistible.

MUSIC SECTION MEETS

Great enthusiasm marked the called meeting of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club held Friday at the home of the curator, Mrs. E .W. Kinney, 1223 Seventh street. Plans for the coming year's study were outlined by the curator. Plans were also made for a Christmas charity concert to be given Dec. 10 with the assistance of Los Angeles professional talent. The proceeds of this concert will go to the Children's hospital and to Glendale's needy.

Mrs. Ethel Graham Lynde, one of the foremost musical interpretive teachers in the state, addressed the music section in her usual wonderful and interesting manner.

The section also had the pleasure of hearing two charming violin numbers by Mr. Cecil A. Crandall, who was accompanied by Mrs. Dora L. Gibson. The first number which Mr. Crandall played was his own composition, entitled "Caprice d'Amore." It displayed remarkable talent and understanding of composition work and was artistically played. A great future is predicted for this young musician.

Mrs. Crandall's encore number was "Andantina," by Kreissler. This was played with much delicacy of expression. Glendale is fortunate in possessing an unusual number of remarkable, talented musicians, many of whom have graciously consented to appear before this section and those who are fortunate enough to be members of this interesting and alive section of the Tuesday Afternoon club are looking forward with keen anticipation to the meetings which will be held regularly hereafter on the second and fourth Fridays of each month.

Next Friday is the first regular meeting and all members of the Tuesday Afternoon club who wish to join this section are asked to be present and will be made welcome at the hospitable home of the new curator, Mrs. E. W. Kinney, at the above address.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

By Rev. R. W. Mottern

Sunday, October 17. Topic, "The Responsibility of our Society for the Christian Endeavor Unions, Local, State and National. Ps. 133:1-3.

It is well to devote some little time to the study of our Union. For every union is an expression of life and activity. "Our fathers considered them so important that some of them said, "United we stand, divided we fall." No truer thought was ever uttered. These many unions or assemblies, conferences or synods as they may be called, it matters not which, are for one and the same purpose, to stimulate thought and action in the individual and local society, church or congregation. They are an absolute necessity therefore. For God never intended one man to be by himself, he is made a social being and thus for advancement in Christian work societies gather together and report their experiences, learning from each other and receive special instruction from "experts" who have made a special study of special needs and are thus able to direct along particular lines.

Helping one another by passing on the good things learned and tried in local societies up to the "Union" will surely help some one and carried home to the local society improves it. This then becomes an idea-exchange in which societies report what they have tried in their society and found a good thing, and the same will help others.

In the Lord's business we find its very life is co-operation. Our denominational name simply indicates under what flag we are working. "That we all may be one," was the Master's great prayer, going forward together, standing for the same principles; united in spirit and truth; fighting sin and wrong, "for Christ and the church" means much indeed.

Each society has some most developed, pious and able young men and women; young people who have zeal and courage, whose lives become a benediction, acquaintance with them, learning from them in union meetings because they walk close to the Master, will stimulate you and make you a far stronger Christian, an abler soldier for Christ.

The real purpose of a "union meeting" rightly understood ought to send every delgate and officer home inspired for better service, better leaders, committees, etc. The visions of what is possible in the local society should stir up the zeal of every delegate. Alas, too oft, the vision is doubted, nor received as possible. Timid and fearful members refuse to appropriate; the result is the vision fails. Co-operation in the union and at home brings wonders and revelations.

TROPICO

Miss Katherine Hobbs of North Central avenue has returned from a week's pleasant vacation trip, which was enjoyed in San Francisco sight seeing and attending the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Mrs. Nellie Rogers of Eagle Rock was the guest of Mrs.W. A. Dutton of Virginia place Thursday.

Mrs. Frank I. Marsh, after a week's pleasant visit in Buena Park, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rose, has returned to her home on North Central avenue.

Mrs. Myra C. K. Shuey of Columbus street, who has been spending the past fortnight in Burbank as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Robinson, has returned home.

On account of its conflicting with the Saturday evening lectures given under the auspices of the Federation of Parent Teacher associations, on the evening of October 23, Mr. Julius Kranz has decided to change the date of his concert to Friday evening, October 29. The concert will be given by the pupils of Mr. Kranz and of Miss Melicent Virden, in the Masonic Temple on that date.
